Our capital cities, home to over two-thirds of the population are responsible for nearly 70% of the nation's GDP. They are not just the heart of innovation and growth but also the very engines driving national ambition and local delivery.

Australia's capital cities play a critical role in shaping the economic, social, and environmental conditions of the nation and act as central hubs for housing, education, health, innovation, and community services.

To foster a stronger, more resilient economy, it's imperative that the future of our capital cities takes centre stage in the reform agenda.

Join us for an in-depth exploration of how cities can pave the way for a vibrant and sustainable future, catalysing a turnaround in our economic complexity and ensuring prosperity for all.
